Italian mini crane manufacturer BG Lift will now supply all optional accessories purchased with its cranes already mounted and housed directly on the machine. This, it says, is to simplify and improve the user experience for its customers.

BG Lift says it observed that in daily use of its cranes it would be advantageous for users to have everything already onboard the machine – saving time and workflow continuity.

It says this practical step ensures that accessories are securely, neatly, and easily accessible without compromising the compactness or manoeuvrability of the cranes.

“We listened to the needs of those who use our machines in the field – operators, technicians, companies, and rental services,” said Michele Piantoni, after-sales manager at BG Lift. “Offering a fully equipped crane, with accessories already installed, means eliminating unnecessary steps, reducing the risk of loss, and ensuring more effective, safer, and more efficient operations.”
