In addition to selling BG cranes, Walser will provide spare parts, technical assistance, service and repairs for both new and existing BG cranes throughout the country.
BG Lift sales director, Gabriele Valli said: Walser represents a strategically important partner for us. This project is part of a broader commercial development plan that I have personally followed and which will allow us to significantly strengthen our presence in the Swiss market. The first units have already arrived and will be used for targeted demonstrations with customers and industry professionals."

Walser Schweiz is part of the Walser group, which was established in 1903. It also distributes Palfinger cranes, Kögel trailers and Dynaset hydraulic equipment from four locations in Switzerland, while the group also has a branch in Austria and one in southern Germany with around 250 employees.
